Questions and answers

Who can vote?

To be eligible to vote, you must be at least 18 years old on election day. In addition, there are special rules for the right to vote in the three different elections to the Riksdag, municipal council and regional council. The elections you have the right to vote in are shown on your voting card.

Where can I vote?

Your voting card lists your electoral district and the address of the polling station where you should vote on election day. You can also vote at a voting location for early voting.

Do I need to verify my identity?

You always need to verify your identity to vote. You can do this with an identity document, such as an ID card, driving licence or passport, or someone else with an identity document can confirm your identity.

How do I vote?

The most common ways to vote are:

- At a voting location for early voting from Wednesday 24 August.
- On election day on Sunday 11 September.

You can also vote:

- by proxy,
- in your home, if there are special reasons for doing so (known as ambulant vote collection),
- from other countries.

Can I get help at the polling station?

You can ask the voting clerks for help. They have a duty of confidentiality.

Please note!

In order to vote, you will need to be able to verify your identity, for example by showing an identity document such as an ID card, driving licence or passport.
